John Powers is a litigator that advocates for firm clients in complicated civil disputes. While he regularly appears in federal and state court and arbitration to try cases, his goal is always to seek the shortest and most sensible path to resolution.

Mr. Powers' clients include manufacturers, construction owners and other construction professionals, municipalities, publicly and privately-held corporations of all types, small businesses, and individuals. Among other practice areas, he is experienced in product liability litigation, construction litigation, intellectual property and trade secret litigation, and complex contractual and intra-corporate disputes of all types. Mr. Powers also provides ongoing counsel regarding risk management, dispute resolution and dispute avoidance prior to the emergence of litigation.

Mr. Powers is a court-approved mediator for the Federal District Court for the Northern District of New York, providing assistance to other litigants in resolving their disputes. He also frequently appears as local counsel on behalf of other firms representing out-of-state defendants involved in litigation in Upstate New York.

Mr. Powers previously practiced with the Arent Fox law firm, in Washington, D.C., and served as a federal judicial law clerk for two years for the Honorable Frederick J. Scullin, Jr., United States District Court Judge for the Northern District of New York. Prior to becoming an attorney, Mr. Powers served on active duty in the military as an Army Infantry Officer.
